

YOUR SAY

@jin_nation (The Nation's Somroutai Sapsomboon) yesterday asked Twitter users whether they thought the State of Emergency should be lifted, and why.

@kkutu99:

(The State of Emergency) should remain in unsafe places and can be lifted in safe places. It's better than being lifted completely and facing the turmoil again.

@mr_aum:

If the emergency decree can "really" be used as a tool, nothing to lose in keeping it. It doesn't affect ordinary people's lives.

@bbonly:

The emergency should be lifted. When it remains, the officers don't exercise their authority correctly and to its fullest. It also spoils the atmosphere.

@natsukatsu:

I think it should be kept in the cities at risk, like provinces that are major economy centres, to prevent damage from political rallies that are ruining the country.

@suebsak1:

Please lift in the areas where there are no problems. It is acceptable in Bangkok, adjacent provinces and some others as necessary. But it's not good for a long period. Please hurry up to do things that are necessary and also clarify to people.

@basket_yo:

I want the emergency to be lifted in Pattaya. My uncle's clothing business is not doing well there.

@Fringer:

The emergency decree cannot solve the problems of the restive South. On the other hand, it allows officers to violate people's rights. Likewise, why do we need it in this situation?

@initialsb:

With the state of emergency continuing, foreign tourists do not feel confident and they think the country's situation has not returned to normalcy.

@HokJr:

I don't think it works as terrorism attacks have occurred. Moreover, this state of emergency lowers the number of tourists coming.

@Nitipan_naewna:

The emergency should be lifted according to the situation in each province. Continuing the State of Emergency is sensitive to the people's feelings. It should be invoked carefully as it has psychological effects. Lifting and bringing it back later is not difficult. It can be clarified to the people, too.